Governor announces $6.3 million grant for victims assistance for district attorneys' offices across state

Gov. Kay Ivey announced Friday, Dec. 7, the awarding of a $6.3 million state grant that will allow Alabama District Attorneys to hire 88 Certified Victim Service Officers to assist victims of crime.

Speaking at a news conference Friday in the Old House Chamber, Ivey noted the need for more assistance for crime victims.

"The criminal justice system can seem intimidating to people who have been victims of crime," the Governor said. "I am pleased to support this program, which will provide knowledgeable professionals to help crime victims understand the court process and ensure that they are aware of other community resources that may further assist them."

The grant was awarded by the Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs (ADECA) to the Alabama Office of Prosecution Services (OPS), which provides assistance and support for the state's district attorneys. Representatives of ADECA, OPS and the Alabama District Attorneys Association joined Ivey at the news conference.

"This grant is a major benefit for victims, victims' families and district attorneys across Alabama," said Tom Anderson, District Attorney for Coffee and Pike counties and president of the Alabama District Attorneys Association. "In some circuits where money for victim assistance is especially tight, it is a real game-changer. Victims of

Wreath Across America program set Dec. 15th at Evergreen Cemetery

The Elba American Legion Post 42 and the Enterprise Civitan Club together are starting the first annual "Wreaths Across America" for Elba.

The tradition of placing wreaths on the graves of veterans was started at Arlington National Cemetery in 1992 and has grown to where over one and a half million wreaths will be placed this year around the world.

In 2015, Travis Parker started the Coffee County version with one cemetery in Enterprise and 18 wreaths. This year, over 1,000 wreaths will be placed at almost a dozen cemeteries from Daleville to Enterprise and from New Brockton to Elba, as well as, several smaller cemeteries in between.

The Enterprise Civitan Club has partnered with the Elba American Legion and the Wiregrass Sons of the American Revolution to promote this annual event.

The Enterprise Ceremony is set for Saturday Dec. 15, at 11 a.m. at the City Cemetery on North Main Street in Enterprise. The Elba Ceremony will be the same day [Saturday, Dec. 15] at 2 p.m. at the Evergreen Cemetery in Elba.

Sally Bane selected as Elba's new city clerk

by Ferrin Cox, Publisher

The Elba City council voted unanimously Monday night, Dec. 10, to hire Sally Bane, of Elba, as the City Clerk, replacing James Kelley, who has resigned and will be leaving once a person is available to replace him.

Bane presently works with a contractor at Ft. Rucker and will be assuming her duties at city hall on Dec. 19th. She previously worked at the Elba Nursing Home.

There were 21 applications for the position, according to Mayor Mickey Murdock.

Bane's husband works at Dorsey Trailers, and they are parents of three children who attend Elba City Schools.

Council members were told there is another delay in "emergency" funding for the FEMA buyout of flood-impacted homes in Elba. This has been on hold since December 2015. Reportedly this delay is because the Historical Society wants to do some digs around the houses, in crawl spaces, etc. This will delay any buy-outs for at least another six months.

Assistant City Clerk Pat Boothe reported the street department is distributing new garbage cans, and replacing a clogged metal pipe in a drainage ditch behind the old high school. The ditch carries water from behind Cook Chevrolet to a pump station at the levee. It goes underground at Newton Street and that is where the problem was found. The

Escaped prisoner from Elba recaptured

On Tuesday, Dec. 4, the Elba Police Department received a complaint of a City of Elba prisoner walking away from his work detail shortly after 1 p.m. that afternoon.

Thomas Dalton Hughes, age 28, was working off fines on non-violent offenses, according to a press release from the Elba Police Department, when he escaped custody. It was believed that he could have been given a ride and dropped off at or near the intersection of Alabama Highway 87 S and Alabama Highway 134 W.

The Elba Police Department was assisted in the search for Hughes by the Coffee County Sheriff's Department and Alabama Bureau of Investigation. The following day, Wednesday, Dec. 5, he was captured without incident and returned to jail.

Coffee County honors retiring solid waste officer

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Coffee County honored solid waste officer Dean Blair during the Coffee County Commission meeting held Monday, Dec. 10, as he plans to retire at the end of this month.

Mike Thornton, director of Coffee County Environmental Services, commended Blair for the outstanding job he had done as the county's solid waste officer over the past nine years.

"When we took over our residential garbage pickup service, there was a lot of ringing of hands and worry about pulling it off," Thornton said. "I'll be honest with you. We never would have pulled it off as easily as we did without Dean."

A former law enforcement officer, Blair joined the Coffee County Sheriff's Department on Sept. 15, 2009 after several years of being the School Resource Officer for the Elba Police Department at Elba City School. He became the Coffee County's Solid Waste Enforcement Officer on April 16, 2012.

Commission chairman Dean Smith noted Blair was completing a long career of public service to the people of Coffee County. He said Blair's dedicated service to his job, whatever it may have been, could be attested in the results he got.

Coffee County Environmental Services director Mike Thornton (right) presents a plaque to Coffee County solid waste officer Dean Blair (left) honoring him for his years of service to Coffee County. Blair will retire Jan. 1, 2019 after more than 30 years of public service.

NOTICE:

During the Coffee County Commission meeting held Monday, Dec. 10, in New Brockton, Coffee County Environmental Services director Mike Thornton noted the residential garbage pickup schedule for county residents during the upcoming holidays.

Garbage pickup will run the regular routes on Monday, Dec. 24, and Monday, Dec. 31; however, there will be no pickup on Tuesdays, Dec. 25th and 31st. Both weeks, service will shift one day after the Tuesday holiday (i.e. Tuesday route on Wednesday, Wednesday route on Thursday, Thursday route on Friday, and Friday route on Saturday).

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

The head of the Alabama Department of Conservation is pushing to be sure everyone understands the danger of chronic wasting disease (CWD) in deer. "It is the middle of deer season, so we've got lots of other tasks and calls to conduct," he said. "But keeping CWD out of Alabama is extremely important, so we're conducting details on the state lines to attempt to ensure no deer are brought into Alabama from other states." If you go deer hunting in another state, expect to be checked upon reentering Alabama. If you have a deer, whole or dressed then brother you are in trouble. The law reads that you can't bring it into Alabama because of the danger of CWD getting into native deer.

The Business Council of Alabama (BCA) has had it ups and downs over the years and lately it has been mostly downs. Leaders have vowed to "right their ship" so to speak. The recent hiring of Katie Boyd Britt as their president signals to people who know Katie that it will happen. The Enterprise native has a great personality and is coming to BCA with a strong record of getting her job done. She was most recently the Chief of Staff for Senator Richard Shelby. Again those who know Shelby's operation will quickly tell you that he hires the best and expects the best from them. Katie moved up the ranks in Shelby's office and at each step she excelled. We congratulate her and BCA for what promises to be a great combination.

Attorney General Steve Marshall announced that Alabama is participating in a bipartisan group of 39 attorneys general to stop or reduce annoying and harmful robocalls. This coalition is focused on the technology that major telecom companies are pursuing to combat illegal robocalls. "Robocalls are not simply annoying but have become a persistent harassment that is disrupting the lives of our citizens and can be a means for scammers to steal their hard-earned money and savings," said Attorney General Marshall. We will jump for joy if they are successful in curbing this annoying practice.

The word synergy is a red flag word in several of the legal papers surrounding investigations of President Trump. Some experts believe (or want to believe) that this means indictment charges are coming down the pike for the President. Whatever it means, we can expect impeachment talk to fill the news on a regular basis for the next two years. Well there is still talk of impeaching both former presidents Clinton and Obama, so maybe Trump's name will be lumped with them after he is gone. We are willing to gamble a cup of coffee that there will be no impeachment of Donald Trump. Even if Congress does get into the fray and vote such action, this guy and his lawyers will rant, rave, file lawsuits, etc., and confuse the process for years or until everyone tires of the fight and lets it go away.

The EPA is proposing new definitions of "Waters of the United States" that will give some relief to farmers, etc., who have a fear of legal trouble from things like plowing rainfall pools that occasionally collect in a low spot in their fields. Rules put into force several years ago expanded the definition of just what was included in the clean waters regulations and leaves a lot of questions over what is wetlands. This is an effort to pull back and/or clarify those rules.

Preventing illness is always better than trying to cure it, and the flu is no exception.

For most Alabamians, a quick trip to the local pharmacy or a doctor and a small copayment are all that are needed to prevent the flu. But have you ever thought about how people without health insurance prevent illnesses like the flu? The cost of that vaccination can be prohibitive, especially when you are living on a limited income.

In Alabama, we have thousands of uninsured adults who often must make the hard choice between caring for their family and getting preventative care like the flu vaccine. Many of these individuals will not get a flu shot this year, potentially resulting in hospitalizations that could have been avoided.

Alabama has an opportunity to solve this problem by increasing access to preventative care by expanding Medicaid.

Having a primary doctor not only saves lives, it saves thousands of dollars in avoiding expensive emergency room visits and hospital admissions. People with health insurance are able to receive much-needed screenings and vaccinations and to have a place to go when they get sick.

How does getting a flu shot make that much of a difference?

If an individual doesn't get vaccinated and catches the flu, he may need medication to help reduce the symptoms (the most common prescription costs around $100). He would have to pay for a doctor visit to have the medicine prescribed, and the doctor might recommend additional doses for his family. But, how many individuals living below the poverty level can afford several hundred dollars in prescriptions?

If he is unable to buy the medicine and his infection worsens, he is likely to spread it to others, and he may need hospitalization. The CDC reported 710,000 hospitalizations from the flu during last year's flu season. In Alabama, health officials estimated about 100 deaths due to flu.

Just this year, there was a story about a second-grade teacher in Texas who decided not to fill her prescription for Tamiflu when she saw it would be $116. She refused to pay and died three days later from flu-related complications.

It is not just flu vaccinations; many of the uninsured also have chronic diseases such as high blood pressure or diabetes, and without health insurance, these conditions only get worse.

Providing preventive care through Medicaid expansion ensures healthy families, a healthy workforce and a stable health care delivery system. It's time to invest in a healthy Alabama.

Like getting a flu shot, it just makes sense.

Due to El Nino weather pattern

Coffee County EMA warns of wetter than normal conditions over next three months

Coffee County EMA director James Brown says now may be a good time to look at your flood insurance policy... Winter Outlook: We are in an El Nino weather pattern and expect this to hold through spring, which means wetter than normal conditions. The combination of wet conditions, high stream flows and the likely above normal rainfall during the winter-time suggest a greater vulnerability to river flooding over the next three months.

Since 1950, there have been 20 separate El Nino events. Four of these events were measured as strong El Nino events (bold), most recently the 2015/2016 winter season. While strong events had noteworthy impacts across the region in March and April, significant river flooding has occurred during less intense El Nino events, like the one anticipated for this winter.

El Nino events provide for heavier than normal precipitation across the Southeastern US during the winter season. This year, with soil conditions much wetter than normal and the potential for increased rainfall this winter season, historical data would suggest an increased threat for river flooding, according to the National Weather Service.

What we know now....

• Above normal precipitation, largely due to Hurricane Michael and a recent widespread rain event at the first of December, has occurred across much of the region.

• Many areas in the western half of the region are more than 10 inches above normal rainfall for the last 3 months.

• While Winter and early

Elba's Ashley Brunson named director of Barbour County DHR

Elba's Ashley Brunson recently received an appointment as the new director of the Barbour County Department of Human Resources (DHR). Brunson was announced as the new director on Nov. 16th. She began her career as a social service case-worker with Coffee County's DHR in May 2007 and was promoted to child welfare supervisor in September 2010. In June 2016, Brunson was promoted to program specialist with the state Department of Human Resources. She held that position until her recent promotion to be Barbour County's DHR director.

"I have truly found my purpose in serving others," Brunson said. "I am excited about this opportunity to serve the citizens of Barbour County and excited to partner with community members." A graduate of Elba High School, Brunson received her Bachelor of Science degree from Troy University in December 2006 and her MSW from Troy in July 2018. Ashley is married to Mark Brunson. She has two sons, both students at Elba City Schools - Colin, age 12, and Kip, age 4.

Katie Britt named president of Business Council of Alabama

The Business Council of Alabama has selected Alabama native Katie Boyd Britt as the organization's next president.

Britt, who currently serves as Chief of Staff to United States Senator Richard C. Shelby, will start the job on January 2, 2019.

"We are excited to welcome Katie as the BCA's new president," said Alabama Power CEO Mark Crosswhite, who chairs the BCA's Executive Committee. "As the top staff member for Senator Shelby, she has worked daily with businesses and elected officials from around Alabama and the country. She also has a special ability to work with and unite people from all walks of life. She has all of the tools we were looking for to support the business growth across the state that will drive our economy in the years ahead."

Britt was born and raised in Enterprise, Ala., and attended The University of Alabama, where she served as president of the Student Government Association. She also earned her law degree from the University of Alabama School of Law.

Over the past decade, she has served in a number of senior positions for Senator Shelby in Washington.

Katie Boyd Britt

Before becoming Chief of Staff, Britt was the youngest press secretary in the U.S. Senate. She previously led state governmental affairs for the Butler Snow law firm in Montgomery and also practiced corporate law. She has also served as a member of the BCA Board of Directors.

Britt, her husband, Wesley, and their two children, Bennett and Ridgeway, will reside in Montgomery.

"My heart is in Alabama," said Britt. "Our state has made significant progress in recent years, and I am honored to have been chosen to lead BCA during this time of growth."

I look forward to building on that momentum through collective efforts with our BCA members, elected officials, and business allies across the state - identifying opportunities every day in which we can provide and advance real, tangible solutions. BCA's successes are Alabama's successes, and our unique ability to take on big challenges and deliver strategic results will advance our economy and best serve the men and women who make up the backbone of our state."

Britt, who will be the first female president at BCA, said her top initial priorities will be:

- Working with the Executive Committee and Board of Directors to develop a new long-term strategic plan for the organization.

- Building bridges with other organizations to identify shared priorities and objectives at the state and federal level.

- Reaching out to all businesses in the state to better understand how BCA can bring value to their company.

- Bringing a fresh, new approach to working with all elected officials and policy makers at the local, state, and federal level to support pro-business, pro-economic growth policies that support all sectors of Alabama's economy: industrial, commercial, small business, tech and healthcare entrepreneurs.

BCA Executive Committee Member Carl Jamison said Britt brought to the table the qualities and experience needed to successfully move BCA forward.

"BCA has an important responsibility to its members and to our state moving forward," Jamison said. "With Katie's energy and experiences in Montgomery and Washington, she understands the constructive role BCA can play."

Britt said a strong BCA is vital for Alabama's success as a state and for its residents.

"From the Tennessee Valley to the Wiregrass and then over to Mobile Bay, we have a remarkably diverse economy," Britt said. "But to ensure Alabama's future success, we must encourage policies and priorities that strengthen our businesses and provide opportunities for our citizens."

The Business Council of Alabama is a non-partisan, statewide business association representing the interests and concerns of nearly 1 million working Alabamians.

COVENANT COMMUNITY CHURCH

A POEM FOR A BLUE CHRISTMAS
by Rev. Diana Farrell White

I thank God for the evergreens: the fir, the cedar, the pine
Without them the winter is very grim, no color outside to find
The evening darkness holds me hostage, taking me deep within
To the inner wrestling of the soul, searching for hope again
I thank God for candlelight, sparkling lights and red bows
On these I focus night by night as I wait for the sun to glow
I'm told in carols, in cards and on packages to feel "merry and bright"
As years pass by I long for, struggle for and search for that joy and delight
I see that excitement in my children. They sing so loud, happy and free!
So I move closer to the candles, the lights and the carols. I implore You, draw near to me!

Election Day tradition: Snowdoun voter always first to the polls

(the information below includes excerpts from the article published Nov. 6th in the Montgomery Advertiser and written by Andrew J. Yawn; photo credit to: Montgomery Advertiser)

After a short, eight-mile drive from his home down Highway 331, Milt Belcher parked where the gravel turns to grass and took his seat atop the steps of the Snowdoun Women's Center.
It was 5:30 a.m., and as usual Belcher was the first to arrive at his polling place Tuesday morning. The doors wouldn't open for another hour and a half, but preserving his streak is worth the wait.

A jovial, kind-eyed man with a beard like powdered sugar, Belcher, the one time administrative law judge for the state attorney general's office, has made voting a passion. He became interested in politics in 1965, when he became the first black student to enroll and eventually graduate from the previously all-white Elba High School in his native Coffee County.
Belcher said he had three careers after that, a 32-year legal career, preceded by 22 years of military service, with a stint as a law professor at Auburn University at Montgomery and Faulkner University stuck sometime in between. He is now enjoying retirement.
The 70-year-old Belcher has made voting his primary hobby and he hopes more people take up the cause. Too many people gave their lives, their blood, sweat and tears, for us to be able to do this, he says.

Elba High School named National Beta School of Distinction

National Beta announces Elba High School as a 2018-2019 National School of Distinction. This award is an honor for Beta Chapters striving towards academic achievement, exemplary character, demonstrated leadership and service to others. With an ongoing quest to instill these qualities in more students, the National Beta School of Distinction Award is designed to award those schools that show an increase in membership for the current school year. "I am very proud of our group of Senior Beta members," said Jane Moseley, Senior Beta sponsor. "Our club has 56 members this year and they have worked hard supporting their school and community as well as collecting donations for Hurricane victims in Florida." She continued, "All of our members are extremely involved in multiple school activities and are highly motivated in their academics. We have a great group of leaders!" Award recipients received a National Beta School of Distinction banner to proudly display

Several Elba High Senior Beta Club members are shown standing in front of the National Beta School of Distinction banner that was presented to Elba High School upon receiving this special designation.

Views From The Pressbox

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

Our grandson Lawson helped his second grade classmates perform at a Christmas show last week at Elba High School and was easy to spot in the group as he wore a headpiece with blinking lights and a necklace that was also adorned in blinking lights. There was no doubt my little man had the Christmas spirit!

For what is worth....

 The Elba Tigers tipped off the basketball season over the weekend with a big 50-33 road win over the Opp Bobcats. The Tigers had a hard time finding their way to the basket in the first half and scored only 14 points in the opening two quarters, but began to settle in early in the second half and used their quickness and athleticism to pull away for the lopsided win. Richmon Singletary put the team on his shoulders in the second half to lead it back from a nine-point halftime deficit and led the Tigers to the win, while Alex Wright was a force inside and Logan Medlock was a surprise source of points from the outside with a couple of three-pointers. The Tigers lack of practice was evident early on, but they are loaded with athletes and even on a bad night shooting can hang around due to their quickness and have a chance to win. It is going to be an interesting season, no doubt.

 The Elba Lady Tigers upped their record to 3-1 with an easy win over the Opp Lady Bobcats and appear to have both the depth and desire to be big winners on the court. The Lady Tigers may appear to be a little ragged at times as they chase opponents around the court and take shots going at breakneck speeds toward the goal. However, they make it work and after four games already have three wins on their side of the ledger. The Elba girls will no doubt settle into a more disciplined style of play as the season progresses, but lets hope they never slow down and back away from their aggressive style of play.

 It was a busy week on the basketball court for area teams as they all hit the court and battled hard looking for some early-season wins. Here's a quick look back....

* Kinston - The Bulldogs picked up a big win over Pleasant Home and appear to have two of the top scorers in the area with Jacob Wood and Hunter Davis, while the Lady Bulldogs also have a standout in Courtney Lunsford, but may lack the depth to win on a nightly basis.

* Zion Chapel - The Rebels had a rough week on the court, but it is easy to see they have a new attitude and belief in their abilities, while the Lady Rebels are competitive and should be a factor as the season rolls along.

* New Brockton - The Gamecocks are off to a tough start and have been roughed up at times, but they have played a killer schedule and are probably better than their record may indicate, while the Lady Gamecocks have shown some drive at times and before long may find a couple of wins.

* Brantley - The Bulldogs picked up an exciting overtime win over Opp and are just as solid as ever, while the Lady Bulldogs are undefeated in early-season play and have their eyes set on an area title.

 Enterprise High School found the new head football coach it wanted and opened up its checkbook to get him last week as it hired former Apopka, Florida head coach Rick Darlington for an annual salary of $115,000.02. Darlington's salary is about $10,000 more than earned by former head coach David Faulkner, and is reportedly a substantial raise from his salary in Florida. The new Wildcat head coach will earn $64,189.09 in teaching salary and $50,810.93 for coaching, and will join the $100,000 club in the state that includes as its members Jeff Kelly, of Saraland ($113,155); Jamey Dubose, of Central Phenix City ($112,276); Mark Freeman, of Thompson ($129,354); and of course, Josh Niblett, of Hoover, who is the state's highest paid coach with a salary of $136,767.85. I know football is a business at the college level, but it is hard for me to understand how a high school coach can bring in the extra money needed to justify that kind of salary.

 The Dothan City School Board recently announced its would consolidate a number of schools, including combining Dothan High and Northview into one school, housed at the Northview campus. Dothan has had two high schools since the construction of Northview way back in 1978, but this upcoming school year will put all students in grades ten through twelve at one location, and if the student population remains consistent will create the state's third largest school with almost 2,000 students. The new school, which has yet to be named, will compete at the 6A level next school year due to region alignment in various sport, but will then make the move up to 7A. Officials at the AHSAA have stated the new school will take on one of the two schools schedules for the next season and also be responsible for the contracts with the other schools that will be left hunting a game. Other state schools that have through a similar consolidation in recent years include Sunshine and Akron into Hale County in 2014, Clay County and Lineville in 2012, Livingston and Sumter County into Sumter Central in 2011, and Gadsden, Emma Sansom and Litchfield into Gadsden City in 2006.

 The goings on up at Auburn would be almost comical if not for the fact just about everything that happens will undoubtedly have negative impact on the football program. The behind the scenes drama against head coach Gus Malzahn has resulted in dictating a one-year deal for a new offensive coordinator, and apparently one potential coach has already turned down an offer to join the staff. On top of that, a four star running back has announced he will leave after Auburn coaches burned his redshirt status without even realizing the number of games the player had participated in. It is a mess up at Auburn and it only appears to be getting worse.

 In closing.... back years ago I would actually try to watch at least a quarter or two of just about every bowl game, but with the over abundance of bowls now in existence there is no way, and no desire to even watch a few games, even ones with SEC ties.

In season opener

Tigers rally to stop Opp 50-33

The Elba Tigers closed the third quarter on a 7-0 run to erase a 27-23 deficit and never looked back Saturday night as they opened the season with a 50-33 road win over the Opp Bobcats.

Elba jumped out to an early 6-2 lead behind the scoring of Richmon Singletary and Alex Wright, but scored only three points the rest of the opening quarter and watched as Opp's Bryan Matthews drained a pair of three-pointers that sparked a 12-3 Bobcat rally that put Opp on top 14-9 after one quarter of play.

The Tigers trailed only 14-12 with 3:49 left in the half after a basket by Singletary as both teams had a hard time knocking the lid off the basket. However, Matthews' third trey of the night pushed the Bobcat lead to 17-12 and at intermission Opp went in with a comfortable 23-14 advantage.

Elba's Richmon Singletary nailed a long three-pointer and scored the Tigers initial nine points of the third quarter as they pulled within 25-23 with 3:48 remaining in the quarter, while a put back by Chavez Hill with 29-seconds left on the clock gave Elba a 28-27 lead, and two late free throws by Singletary enabled Elba to carry a 30-27 lead into the final stanza.

A long three-pointer by Elba's Logan Medlock capped a 9-0 Tiger run early in the fourth quarter that stretched Elba's lead to 39-27 with 4:56 remaining on the clock, and while a three-pointer by Opp's Logan Ross ended the Bobcats long scoring drought, the Tigers reeled off the game's next eight points behind the inside play of Singletary and Medlock to blow the game open as they rolled to the 50-33 road win.

Richmon Singletary scored 20 points and

WEATHER

Spring are the normal river flood season across our region, the combination of the current wet conditions, high stream flows across the much of the region, and the likely above normal rainfall during a winter-time El Nino event suggest a greater vulnerability to river flooding over the next three months.

What we expect...

- Through February, there is a moderate river flood risk across most of the region.
- While most area rivers are more vulnerable than normal to flooding, the greatest flood risk is in the Florida Panhandle.
- This outlook will be updated later this winter to address potential flooding in March and April.

crimes and their families will have someone in DA offices to both comfort them and assist them through the process of obtaining justice. We are extremely grateful to the governor, ADECA and everyone who assisted in making this grant possible."

Barry Matson, executive director of the Office of Prosecution Services and the Alabama District Attorneys Association, said each of the 42 district attorneys in Alabama would receive funds from the grant to pay Certified Victim Service Officers.

"District Attorneys identified providing more direct services to victims as a priority," he said. "No one chooses to be a victim of crime. Through criminal and often violent acts of others, victims are forced into a vast and intimidating criminal justice system. District attorneys, though challenged by meager resources, have long stood with victims of crime. With tens of thousands of felonies a year, it has proved daunting."

Matson said an increase in violent crimes in recent years means there is an increased need for victim assistance. Following a nationwide trend, Alabama saw a 13 percent increase in violent crime and a 12 percent increase in homicides in 2016.

"This groundbreaking partnership between the Governor, Alabama's District Attorneys and ADECA is a model for the nation," Matson said. "With the help of Governor Ivey, Alabama's District Attorneys will be able to ease the pain and anxiety caused by crime, while providing comfort, information and guidance to victims."

Carolyn Tyus, victim service officer for Montgomery County District Attorney Daryl Bailey, also spoke. Tyus noted that she had been a victim herself, when her son was killed by a drunk driver, and appreciated the dedicated help from a VSO.
